BOYS CONFESS TO BURGLARIES

Police, Probation Officer Arrest Trio For Local Thefts

City police Tuesday night took into custody three juveniles who have confessed burglarizing at least 10 Salem homes within the past month. Police Chief Nerr Gaunt said today.

The three High school students turned over a variety of jewelry, watches and some money taken from homes throughout the city. Some of the places the boys admitted having entered were never reported to police by the residents, Gaunt said.

Together with Probation Officer Cornelius Csepke, police questioned the trio last night and gained complete information on activities.

The boys are 14, 15 and 16 years old. Another 16-year-old was involved, the chief said, in the attempted sale of some of the jewelry.

The youths are known to have entered the C. H. Musser residence, 388 S. Lincoln ave., the R. S. McCullough residence, 344 Highland ave., and the Kenneth Hoyt home, 454 Hawley ave.

The 16-year-old boy involved in the burglaries was released on probation to his parents, but the two younger boys, who had been involved previously in minor thefts, were turned over to the county juvenile court at Lisbon.

A sizeable amount of money had been taken in all the places, but Gaunt said most of it had been spent.

Unable To Talk For 35 Years, Ohio Man, 82, Regains Voice

(By Associated Press)

BRIDGEPORT, Feb. 19.—Al Burk, 82, lost his voice 35 years ago following a train accident and regained it yesterday following an illness, his first since the mishap.

"I have a surprise for you," he told Mrs. Ada Burk, his daughter-in-law, when she returned to the house after being away a short time. It was the first time he had spoken since 1911 when a train of which he was engineer was in an accident.

Burk related he was sitting in a rocking chair in his apartment in this Belmont county community yesterday when "something just told me to try to speak."

"I discovered," he asserted, "that my voice was there."

"First I looked around to see who was talking."

Burk, who had just recovered from a heart attack suffered a month ago, was unable to explain the recovery of his voice.

He was alone when he discovered he could talk again. Then his daughter-in-law came to visit him.

"He looked as though he had been crying. He just stood there, motioning me to a chair," Mrs. Burk said.

"I have a surprise for you!"

Burk was an engineer for the old C. & W. railroad (now the Baltimore & Ohio, when his accident occurred.

He recalled that his locomotive was pulling an extra heavy load of coal up a steep grade near Flushing, Ohio.

"All of a sudden," he said, "my engine stalled inside a tunnel. The load had been too much. The exhaust from the stack began pouring back into the cab and I began to smother. That was the last I remembered."

After he was rescued and regained consciousness Burk found that his vocal cords had been paralyzed.

185 SENIORS SET FOR GRADUATION

Members of Salem High school's 1947 graduating class are preparing for the June 5 commencement exercises. Principal Beman Ludwig said today.

The graduating class this year will number about 185, Ludwig estimated, including some 25 to 30 veterans who have earned enough credits.

Orders for commencement announcements were turned in this week by the class. In addition, the students submitted their correct names for printing on diplomas.

Measurements for caps and gowns to be worn during the exercises have been taken and an order placed with a rental company.

Patrolman Wolfe Quits Highway Barracks Here

Patrolman James Wolfe of the Salem state highway patrol barracks has resigned his position to return to his home in Columbus.

Wolfe plans to enter private employment in Columbus, Corp. Edward Mallory said.

Mallory has had no indication of when a replacement for Wolfe will be assigned here, but the department expects to keep the Salem barracks staffed with at least seven men.

Wolfe came here several months ago after graduating from the patrol training school.

Factory Warehouse At Niles Destroyed by Fire

NILES, Feb. 19.—President W. R. Robinson of the Ohio Galvanizing and Manufacturing Co., estimated damage at $200,000 today in a fire which destroyed the concern's warehouse and blacksmith shop yesterday.

Origin of the blaze which started in the blacksmith shop was undetermined. No one was injured.

Death Toll In Railroad Disaster Climbs To 25

(By Associated Press)

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 19.—A heap of twisted metal scattered over a desolate mountainside was all that remained today of part of the Pennsylvania railroad's flyer, the "Red Arrow," which yesterday plunged over a 150-foot embankment, killing 25 persons and injuring 141 others.

An investigation of the wreck, one of the worst in railroad history, was started by the interstate commerce commission, the Pennsylvania public utility commission and the railroad.

Five of the dead still were unidentified, two of the bodies mangled beyond recognition.

The dead included 16 passengers, six railway mail clerks and three members of the crew—an engineer and two firemen—which manned the twin locomotives in the train's climb over the Allegheny mountains.

Others May Die

Many of the injured lay in critical condition at Altoona's two hospitals. Some were expected to die.

Nobody knew what caused the 14-car passenger train, enroute from Detroit to New York, to leave the rails as it headed into Bennington

96 TEACHERS ACCEPT OFFER

Agree To $100 Salary Adjustment Offered By School Board

Salem's 96 full-time public school teachers have accepted a $100 "cost-of-living" wage increase recently voted them by the board of education in recognition of the financial problems confronting the instructors.

Payment will be made when funds are available about March 1.

Announcement of the board's action was made at a general teachers meeting Tuesday afternoon when Supt. E. S. Kerr gave a detailed account of the board's expenditures for 1946.

While outlining the board's financial policies, he indicated some lines of procedure improving the financial status of teachers in a professional manner.

The $100 figure would have been higher had the board's financial position permitted, he declared.

The present adjustment has no strings attached to it. It is in no way an answer to the suggestion of the Salem Teachers association for a $500 increase on the present year's contract. Neither will it bear any relation to salaries for next year, the superintendent explained.

This latter question can be decided only after the present state foundation support is determined by the Ohio general assembly and the county tax commission's estimate of local tax revenue is received, he said.

Russia Fails To Sink Nazi Ships

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—State department officials disclosed today that Russia has acknowledged "difficulties" in carrying out a Big Three agreement to destroy her share of damaged German warships.

Responding to American and British inquiries, Moscow voiced assurances, however, that steps were being taken to carry out her part of the bargain reached at the 1945 Potsdam conference.

The department officials said both the United States and Britain have carried out their commitments to sink or otherwise destroy the damaged Nazi vessels allotted to them for the purpose.

Topping the list of the captured vessels the Russians were to destroy was Germany's single aircraft carrier, the Graf Zeppelin. Whether this flatboat was among the craft whose destruction has met with "difficulties" was not revealed.

Harry Austin, 40, of Alliance was fined $15 and costs by Harmon.

5 Cars Roll Over Hill

Five cars toppled into the gully with the locomotives which lay on their sides, half buried in packed snow and roadbed fill. A mail car, a combination baggage-passenger, day coach and two sleepers were sprawled in the gully below.

A diner and two sleepers were derailed and tossed on their sides. Another sleeper tumbled half over the edge of the slope. Two other sleepers were derailed and three cars remained on the tracks.

Rescue workers forced to descend the steep slope with the aid of ropes, used acetylene torches to reach the bodies. One mangled victim was found standing on his head, wedged between two smashed doors. A member of a midwest troupe lay under a coach seat her head crushed.

There were numerous stories of heroism.

The tracks were cleared early last night and east and westbound traffic was proceeding normally.

Trapped Rabbi Leads Prayers

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 19.—An Ohio rabbi led interdenominational prayers at the request of fellow victims trapped with him for hours yesterday in a torn sleeper car of the wrecked Pennsylvania railroad passenger train near here.

Suspended in mid air from his berth, his leg pinned in the wreckage, Rabbi George E. Lieberman, 36, of McKinley ave., temple, Canton, led the common prayer requested by other passengers who beseeched his intervention with the Creator "in case anything should happen," before they were rescued.

Rabbi Lieberman conducted the prayer service for a half hour. It required four hours for rescuers to extricate him.

He was enroute with his wife, Sylvia, to Atlantic City, for a rest.

The day before the young rabbi spoke in Canton at a national council of Christians and Jews meeting in observance of Brotherhood week. He's a patient in Mercy hospital, suffering spinal and leg injuries. His wife is in Altoona hospital.

SEEKS EARLY CULMINATION OF EMERGENCY

President Asks Congress For Legislation For Early Action

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—President Truman today asked congress for legislation to make possible "an early ending" of the state of national emergency under which the country has lived since 1939.

Mr. Truman asked outright repeal of 24 laws, proposed that 36 other emergency statutes be allowed to lapse upon a declaration of the end of the emergency, and recommended that most of 20 defense appropriation measures be wiped out.

Mr. Truman proposed that only 12 of "more than 100" emergency acts still on the books be extended by permanent legislation.

Ten others would remain in force for six months after the actual proclamation ending the emergency, whenever it may come, or for some other state period.

Reconversion Progresses

"The progress of reconversion now makes it possible to take an additional step toward freeing our economy of wartime controls," Mr. Truman said in his message to congress.

High White House advisors have indicated to newsmen that if congress acts with reasonable dispatch, the emergency may be terminated by July.

The proclamation would cover both the "limited" emergency proclaimed Sept. 8, 1939, and the "full" emergency declared May 27, 1941.

Mr. Truman proposes immediate repeal laws authorizing employment of men from industry as dollar-a-year men in government; the leasing of merchant ships to other nations; the tax-free withdrawal of alcohol for industrial use; the lease of public lands for munitions manufacture; and the appointment of enlisted men to the naval academy.

Those Which Would Lapse

Among the major statutes which would be allowed to lapse upon an end-of-emergency proclamation would be:

The army's "streamlined" procurement power under which supplies can be purchased without advertising for bids; the power to transfer the Coast guard to the Navy; to increase the authorized strength of the Navy; and to initiate measures to increase the market quotas of corn, wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco, or peanuts.

Mr. Truman said the following statutes should be extended until June 30, 1948:

Authorization for an undersecretary of the navy;

The authority to maintain war housing, much of it now in emergency use for veterans, but which would have to be disposed of within two years unless extension were voted.

Provisions for the discharge of certain army officers;

Authority to make temporary appointments of officers in the army without regard to any particular branch or arm of the service;

The right to arm American merchant vessels;

The suspension of import duties on scrap iron, steel and rails.

The free importation of goods for members of the armed forces of the United States; the use of public buildings administration employees as special policemen for the protection of federal property;

The requirement that each department head report the weight of mail sent free of postage (extension only until June 30 recommended.)

It Was A Good Guess

Reading Edmund E. Schuster's charge that honesty does not seem to be wanted in Ohio liquor inspectors, some Ohioans may recall this passage in "Toward Liquor Control," the report by Raymond B. Fosdick and Albert L. Scott:

"On the basis of past experience in the United States and abroad, and the practical considerations we have just reviewed, we have come to the conclusion that the most satisfactory solution of the problem of alcohol requires elimination of the private profit motive in the retail sale of liquor."

"Toward Liquor Control" was undertaken on the suggestion of John D. Rockefeller Jr., as a contribution toward the solution of a national problem. It was published in 1933 and became the textbook of Ohio's liquor control committees. The Liquor Control Act which became effective in December 1933 was based on the Fosdick-Scott study.

The new law, however, made an important departure from the study's principal recommendations. It combined a state-authority system with a license system. The state controlled liquor at the wholesale level and at the retail level for off-the-premises consumption. But for on-the-premises consumption, Ohio returned to a form of the same license system which had caused Fosdick and Scott to say: "From an experience that is all too painful we are aware of the dangers of political influence and corruption under the license plan."

Liquor Inspector Schuster may be wrong in his conclusion that political influence and corruption are more powerful than honesty in enforcement of the Ohio Liquor Control Act. But if he's right—and Ohioans would like to know more about it—he's confirming a guess made 14 years ago by two men who had made a careful study of the ageless problem of controlling the use of alcoholic beverages. They said the profit motive and liquor would make trouble.

Closed-Shop Issue

Cecil B. De Mille's vigorous testimony in Washington against the union shop—or closed shop as it's usually called—would have been more convincing if the film producer had been one of his own employees. Despite his personal interest in this public issue, he is not a competent witness; he can't do justice to the subject.

There is powerful evidence to be given against closed-shop practices as they have been developing these last few years. But it should be given by workers who have bruised their knuckles trying to break into the hard monopolies these practices have helped to create. The problem which Congress must try to solve is not the closed shop as such, but the combination of the closed shop with the closed union.

This is an intolerable danger to the inalienable rights of workers, regardless of union affiliation, to work at jobs of their own choosing in fields of their skill. The combination of the right to compel all employees in union-organized establishments to join the union with the power to decide who can and cannot join the union is a form of monopoly contrary to the spirit of American ethics and law.

The closed-shop issue goes beyond discussion of the rights of organized labor, into the rights of American minorities and majorities. Unionists and politicians who cannot see that anything is involved, except unionism, tacitly admit they have a blind spot on human rights.

There is no privilege, no claimed right of unions or management, or of any other group that can be placed higher than the rights of individuals. The closed-shop issue is fundamentally a question of whether the rights of individuals in the United States are being injured by certain practices of labor unions.

Britain Shares The Poverty

The weather finally did what should have been done when British voters adopted the Labor party's socialism in July 1945. It made Americans wonder what is in store for the nation whose blood, toil, sweat and tears saved the British Isles from the German seizure in World War II.

It now is evident that Britain's troubles are real and that Labor-party socialism did not represent a free choice so much as it represented a desperate expedient. Capitalism had been weakened even before the war by confiscatory taxes; the war gave it the coup de grace.

In turning to socialism, British voters were not approving a plan to share the national wealth, but to share the national poverty. In coal mines and other industries management had been too poor to furnish adequate machinery. British enterprise had been losing its competitive advantage in production.

The United States, which succeeds it as the source of world capital, now is asked to advance wealth out of its own surplus to help not only the British, but the French, Italians, Russians, Chinese and other peoples who either never had or formerly had and lost surplus of their own. These civilizations all lack production, in one degree or another.

They turn to the United States for help which can be given only out of its own production. At the same time, perhaps because misery loves company, the United States is advised by socialists, communists and other beneficiaries of the United States wealth, to abandon enterprise and capitalism and to become more like Great Britain and Russia.

The United States is properly interested in the preservation of Great Britain. It has no proper interest in preserving British socialism at the expense of Great Britain.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, February 20

THE energies and initiative may be keyed to high purpose on this day. And although the forces and faculties may be stimulated to new objectives, yet there is a real menace from over-enthusiasm, as well as reckless impetuosity to neglect to count the costs. Cooperate with others in influential positions but calmly evaluate the resources and construe plans and policies before taking dangerous plunges. Change and revise where perils lurk.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an energetic year, with much new and alluring prospects. The spirit of initiative is spurred to high purpose, but in this there is possible danger and disaster, mainly due to failure to consider calmly all details, costs and estimates. Join with those who move toward bargaining and less high pressure techniques.

A child born on this day will be bold, ambitious and practical, but it may fail because of reckless initiative. Wise heads should prevail.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Thyroid Gland

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE thyroid gland, which is located in the neck, produces a secretion which serves to regulate the body's metabolic furnaces.

Where there is a normal amount of this substance, the fuel we give the body in the form of food is used effectively to produce heat and energy and the flame of life burns bright and clear.

Where the secretion is lacking or inadequate, the picture is diametrically different. A child born with this condition is known as a cretin and will be stunted in growth, sluggish physically and mentally incapable.

When the thyroid secretion becomes inadequate in an adult, a condition known as myxedema develops, with a similar disastrous slowing down of every mental and physical process.

Fortunately today we can correct the situation by giving thyroid extract, and when this substance is supplied, improvement is often dramatic, striking personality changes becoming apparent after only a few weeks' treatment.

A Serious Condition

A serious condition is also brought about by the secretion of too much thyroid extract. This is equivalent to opening all the drafts on a furnace, with a consequent terrific speeding up of all bodily processes.

There are marked loss of weight, an increase in the pulse rate, irritability and emotional upset. The skin is hot and moist and, during stress or exertion, there is a great deal of sweating.

This condition is called hyperthyroidism or toxic goitre. There is another less dangerous condition known as simple goitre, which results from lack of iodine. The secretion of the thyroid gland contains iodine and if the gland is not supplied with enough iodine, it will increase in size, thus forming a goitre.

Simple Enlargement

Simple enlargement of the thyroid gland is more likely to occur during the maturing period—during pregnancy, and in childhood when the body is growing rapidly.

The longer the thyroid gland is kept short of iodine the more permanent is the enlargement likely to become. Furthermore, according to Dr. Harold Gardiner-Hill of England, in certain cases of simple goitre, in later life hyper-thyroidism is likely to develop.

Thus it is important that simple goitre be recognized promptly and that it be treated by the administration of iodine in the proper dose. If this is done early enough, the swelling of the gland will disappear, which does not happen after the enlargement has been present for several years.

Most Useful Guide

Perhaps the most useful guide in telling whether or not hyperthyroidism is present is what is known as a basal metabolism test. This is made by measuring the amount of oxygen which a person uses up in a given period of time. It shows whether or not the chemical activities of the body have been speeded up.

In mild cases of hyperthyroidism the giving of iodine in the proper dose may relieve the symptoms, at least for the time being. Operative or X-ray treatments of the gland are often necessary. A new drug known as thio-uracil may be given prior to operation to improve the patient's condition so that he may be better able to withstand the operation.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

Boyle's COLUMN

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK.—When the neighborhood movie is featuring one of those films about psychopathic people with psychopathic problems, I stay at home and thumb through my wife's old family album.

Each faded picture shows a long dead face that once grew breath and had problems. Francis tells me the real life story behind the faces and how they met those vanished problems. It is much more fun than a movie.

My favorite is my grandmother-in-law Gray, who still looks out from the battered album with the dignity of a duchess, her black eyes snapping under hair of snow.

The thing grandmother Gray had was the courage to carry her burden. Once upon a time she was young and slender and fair, with dark eloquent eyes and black hair. Martha La Force was about the prettiest thing over 15 in Charhage, Mo., and two young men in particular thought so.

Martha liked Vincent Gray. But she loved the other suitor—let's call him Robert. Both boys knew how they stood.

The Civil war broke out, and both suitors went off to fight on the northern side.

Both suitors wrote to her through the years of battle, but toward the end the letters from Robert ceased abruptly. Vincent Gray returned, limping from a bad spinal wound, and he renewed his suit.

Martha clung to the small gold band that Robert had given her. In those days they often gave engagement rings that look like the wedding rings of today. But when the war had been over several months and no word came from her "true love," Vincent finally convinced her Robert was dead or had no wish to return.

So one day, all in white, she walked out a church door on Vincent Gray's arm, his wife. And before the sun set on her wedding day a large packet of letters came from her absent true love. Robert was in a hospital, badly wounded. He wrote he loved her dearly and would come to her as soon as he could be moved.

But in those days people took seriously the word, "Whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder." Martha Gray sat down and wrote the last letter she ever sent the man she loved. He never came home and she never saw him or had word from him again.

She never spoke his name, yet Robert was an unseen ghost between her and her husband, who always was troubled by the knowledge she had married him only through affectionate pity.

Martha bore him four daughters, and the sad man only said: "Four daughters I have to feed and clothe, and not a son to cheer my heart."

But it was Grandmother Gray who had to feed and clothe them. Vincent Gray died young from the after effect of his war wound.

Martha Gray never bustled but she was full of tremendous quiet energy. She was a wonderful cook. She opened a boarding house. Mornings she cooked and cleaned. In the afternoons and evenings she sewed clothes for her daughters. Three she sent through college.

Once a boarder, seeing her bent cheerfully over her sewing machine, put his hand lightly on her shoulder and said: "Your little hands should never have harder work than this to do."

And Grandmother Gray, without turning her head or missing a stitch, said very firmly: "Take your hand from my shoulder, sir, or leave this house forever."

Yes, people once talked that way—and they meant what they said. The abashed boarder removed his hand, but stayed for dinner. He was the only man who ever "insulted" Martha Gray in the years she ran her boarding house.

When her daughters married, her sons-in-law quarreled for the privilege of having Grandmother Gray stay with them. She lived to be old. She died of pneumonia. Only then did the family learn that some months before her doctor had informed her she was incurably ill of cancer. She told no one and never let her pain be known.

She carried her valor and her problems with her to the grave. Among her effects they found the slim small gold ring she had never sent back to Robert—the one remembrance of her early love.

Quaint, proud, tiny Grandmother Gray! For a story about people like her—people with the character to meet real problems—I'll walk through slush and rain to the movies. The rest of the time I'll stick to the old album.

Conference Proposes Church Participation In Economic Matters
(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19.—A prominent church layman and an Episcopalian bishop opened a unique religious conference today by vigorously rejecting the argument that churches should keep out of economic life.

At the start of the three-day "National Conference on the Church and economic life,"

1. Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati lawyer who is president of the Federal Council of Churches, said in a prepared speech that the German churches obeyed Hitler's advice to mind their own business, "heaven and all that," while he took care of economics and politics—"but that conclusion we cannot accept."

2. The Rt. Rev. Angus Dun, Episcopal bishop of Washington, said the churches must concern themselves with economic life because they are not caring for "disembodied souls, but souls in bodies of flesh and blood."

Argued By Some
Both men said some Christians argue that the church ought not to concern itself with things like labor-management relations and other economic questions.

The conference is designed to discuss economic "tension," decide what responsibility the churches have toward these "tensions," and to recommend a program of action for the Federal Council's 25 denominations, claiming 26,000,000 members, almost all of them Protestants.

The Federal Council is sponsoring the conference, but the conference in its final report will speak only for itself.

Officials expect close to 400 delegates, one-third of them clergymen, another third from labor unions, business firms and agriculture, and the others professional people, government officials and educators.

U. S. Develops Molds For Study of Human Foot
WASHINGTON—Details of an inexpensive and convenient process for casting durable molds of the human foot are now available to the public from the department of commerce.

The new method, developed by the army research laboratory for studying army footgear, overcomes difficulties which usually hinder foot model-makers, the department said. The process employs a composition of 40 per cent oleic acid and 60 per cent stearic acid as a molding medium and plaster of paris as casting medium.

A commerce department spokesman said the new procedure is "believed to be of special interest to the shoe industry and to other firms or individuals concerned with casting of plaster molds."

Thank God For Muscle-Rub!

Writes Mr. Robert Jordan, Colon, Mich.
Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic-Arthritic-Sciatic-Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip-knee-calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at your local drugist.

Remember, Muscle-Rub is sold on this money back guarantee. If only half a bottle doesn't bring relief your drugist is authorized to return your money.—Adv.

First Broadcast To Russia Tells of U. S. Harmony, Intentions

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The United States—addressing the Russian people by radio in their own language—said yesterday "full harmony" exists in this country between the federal government and the 48 states.

The first broadcast beamed to the Soviet Union by the state department's "Voice of America" short wave station presented a 2,000 word dissertation of "state's rights" and a summary of world news, interspersed with such folk tunes as "Turkey In the Straw" and "Get Along Little Doggies."

The program marks this country's initial effort to hurdle Russia's "iron curtain" by means of radio. A translation of the script for the hour-long program was released by the State department. It led off with an introductory statement quoting Secretary of State Marshall as saying the United States will "attempt to give the people of the world the pure and unadulterated truth."

In the review of this country's political structure, the Russians were told "American states are not artificial territorial factions established for administrative expediency. They are healthy organisms created by historical forces."

"They will never give up their status of fully equal members of the union, and there never will be such a necessity, inasmuch as at the present time full harmony exists between state's rights and the expanded functions of the federal government."

The Russians also received a brief report on such recent American scientific developments as a new cure for hay fever and a method of constructing highly sensitive photo electric elements.

The program went on the air at 1 p. m. Eastern Standard time, 9 p. m. in Moscow.

OHIO MINERS HAVE PORTAL DE LUXE

PORTAL-TO-PORTAL time is practically playtime for miners at the Hanna Coal Company's Willow Grove mine, near St. Clairsville, Ohio, following recent opening of one of the fanciest portal layouts in the industry. Most important, perhaps, is that the new portal is four miles nearer the job. Miners shift from street to work clothes in the washhouse—a building so designed that workers need not step outside the manway to get to or from it. Main features are a bright, tiled, 25-stower washroom and a dressing room big enough for all the mine's 600 employees. After work clothes are donned, miners walk to the huge electric elevator—about twice the size of the average office building lift. This makes the 175-foot drop to the mine level in 22 seconds. Then follows a short walk through a completely concrete'd, well-lighted corridor to the mine entry itself. Here is another innovation—a special revolving door which keeps out mine drafts. Other features of the de luxe portal are a modern, chromium-trimmed restaurant, serving hot meals on each of the three shifts, a lounge and—planned but not ready yet—a dance floor and roof garden.

Portal restaurant serves anything from a double strawberry soda with whipped cream to a husky steak dinner, with plenty of French fries. It's on all-day basis, serving three shifts.

Revolving doors provide air lock that keeps manway and elevator compartment free of wind and dust. A far cry from old-fashioned mine "bucket" is this modern elevator.

ary superintendent of Ohio Yearly meeting of Friends gave a talk at the East Goshen Friends church Sunday morning.

Paul Ryser, who is attending Cleveland Bible College at Cleveland, spent the weekend at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pyle received word of the death of his nephew, Clarence Sams of Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Biery of Belmont visited Mr. and Mrs. Emil Stanley, Sunday evening.

J. W. Hanna has entered the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for surgical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Sharp of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Peters, Mrs. Delord Dougherty and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Barber of Alliance were dinner guests of Mrs. Betty Barber Sunday evening.

THE ARMY GROUND FORCES—

WORLD'S GREATEST SCHOOL FOR LEADERSHIP

"FOLLOW ME!" The ringing battle-cry of the Infantryman is the stirring command of the leader. And nowhere else in the world—in war and in peace—are so many great leaders developed as in the Army Ground Forces. The American ground soldier is known for his ability to carry out any assignment with resourcefulness and initiative—the qualities that make leaders in civilian life as well as the Army.

The Ground Forces can not only teach you leadership—they can equip you with fine job training to go with it. In peacetime, the Army is a gigantic school-going organization—with training available in many valuable skills and trades.

Remember, too, that increased Army pay scales are now in effect, and that you receive 20% additional pay for overseas service.

Thousands of outstanding young men, able to meet the new higher standards required, are enlisting in the Regular Army. And because of the special advantages offered, the majority of them are enlisting for 3 years. If you are looking for the road to a profitable future, your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station can furnish all details.

Highlights of Regular Army Enlistment

- Choice of any branch of service which still has quotas to be filled, and of certain overseas theaters which still have openings, on 3-year enlistments.
- Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
- A reenlistment bonus of $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided reenlistment is within 3 months after last honorable discharge.
- Leave credit accrues at the rate of 30 days per year of service.
- Muster-out pay for all men eligible therefor, when discharged to enlist or reenlist.
- Educational benefits under GI Bill of Rights for men who enlist before official termination of war and remain in service 90 days or more.
- Family allowances for dependents of men enlisting or reenlisting continue until 6 months after official termination of war.
- Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army with 6 or more months of service.)
- Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous honorable active federal military service counts toward retirement.

In Addition to Column One of the Above: 20% Increase for Service Overseas. 50% Increase, up to $50 Maximum Per Month, if Member of Flying or Glider Crews. $50 Per Month for Parachutists (Not in Flying-pay Status) while Engaged upon Parachute Duty. 5% Increase in Pay for Each 3 Years of Service.

Second Guessing

DEPARTMENT OF CONGRATS

Dave Williams, manager of the Youngstown Class A sectional-district tournament, is deserving a unanimous round of congratulations for his arrangement of the seedings of the Class A tourney drawings Monday night.

Faced with an almost unsolved problem year in and year out—that of seeding four teams of a 28-team field into four brackets—Dave turned in one of the most well managed, fairly-conducted seedings we have witnessed in the Ohio scholastic basketball tourneys in recent years.

By putting the actual seeding up to the coaches of the various schools—in which manner he did—Williams probably began the most harmonious tourney ever to be held.

The seeding proposition is a bone of contention in Class A and B affairs annually throughout the state. The OHSAA state board rules that seeding procedure is up to the tourney manager and he, in his own castle, can either seed as he feels correct or do as he pleases.

Williams was faced with a serious problem again this year. There were three or four Canton teams with very good records. Salem had one of the two best records, Warren had a creditable mark against stiff opposition and several other teams had good "on paper" season's records, but opposition they had beaten wasn't top-notch calibre.

Dave knew the three teams he could logically seed 1, 2 and 3—Salem, McKinley and Lehigh—had been in quandary about that fourth and highly disputable spot.

So instead of seeding the three and allowing a scramble for the fourth in a vote, Williams decided to follow a consistent practice and have all four spots voted on by the coaches.

The No. 1 spot was chosen first then a vote taken for the second, third and fourth. As it turned out the coaches, being entirely unwarned in any way of the voting, ranked Salem, McKinley, Lehigh and Canton Township in that order.

It was about as perfect a seed as could have come out of the tourney for it ranked the four top teams in record and opposition as they rank after the season's play.

Everyone seemed absolutely satisfied and it certainly clears Williams of any criticism of favoritism to any one district.

DEPARTMENT OF CHATTER
At the Youngstown drawing Monday night Coach Bup Reareck of Canton McKinley was asked just what happened to his highly-touted Bulldog squad against East Liverpool last Saturday night.

Reareck made no bones about the fact that he felt his team was "away off."

"We hit practically no shots," he said, "and it wasn't because we didn't have the shots. They were there but just didn't go in."

Bup says it was just one of those nights, but feels that should his

Cincinnati Bearcats Upset Marshall 53 to 42

RACK UP NO. 2 WIN OVER CLUB RATED HIGHLY

Loss Is Only Second Of Season For Herd—Both To Cincy

(By Associated Press)
Cincinnati's Bearcats and Wittenberg's Lutherans stood today as Ohio's latest giant-killers after wrecking two of the toughest basketball aggregations in the neighborhood last night.

To Cincinnati, in-and-out competitor most of the season, went the lightning honors, while Wittenberg got a deep bow from Capital's cagers for bringing the Columbus quintet a step nearer the Ohio Conference throne.

The Bearcats, with 12 victories and eight defeats before last night's return fracas with Marshall (W. Va.), took the rumble out of the Huntington Thundering Herd for the second time this season, 53 to 42.

More unusual was the fact that Marshall has lost but two games in 24 this year—both to Cincinnati.

Wittenberg went to Findlay and did a neat job wrapping up a 58 to 51 verdict, giving the Oilers their second Ohio conference loss and enabling Capital, which topped Denison's Big Red, 50 to 40, to head a two-team field of once-beaten league members.

The other Ohio conference quintet showing but one setback for the season was Baldwin-Wallace.

The Capital victory was the team's 13th against two defeats, and brought its conference standing to 11 victories and one loss, four more triumphs than B-W's Yellowjackets.

Ohio Wesleyan scored its 12th victory in the last 15 outings, tripping Ohio Northern's hapless Polar Bears, 80 to 44, in an independent game.

The Polar Bears have won but two games all season.

Other games saw Loyola of Chicago topple Miami's Redskins, 72 to 57, Heidelberg smashing Ashland 62 to 48; John Carroll beating Hiram 71 to 53, and Kentucky State invading to drub Wilberforce, 68 to 59.

Forest crops rank tenth among all farm crops in farm value.

POTTERS DRUBBED BY MARTINS FERRY

Suffering an off night and "foreign court jitters," East Liverpool's Potters dropped their third game of the season to Martins Ferry Tuesday night by a 45-35 count. They had taken Ferry earlier in the season 60-35.

The tilt was a close one until midway in the third period. At that point Ferry took a 23-22 lead which they never relinquished. With four minutes to go in the game the Potters trailed 38-31.

Walt Ashbaugh, the only Potter to hit the hoop with any consistency, collected 13 points. Jim Cunningham nailed eight.

The Martins Ferry scoring was very well divided.

Liverpool led 18-17 at the half, after the first quarter ended 10-10.

It was the Potters third loss against 16 victories for the year.

Ohio Legislators Congratulate Fesler

COLUMBUS, Feb. 18.—The Ohio house of representatives by a 46 to 35 vote adopted a resolution congratulating Wesley Fesler upon his selection by the Ohio State university athletic board as the school's head football coach.

The resolution, proposed by four Mahoning county Democrats, described Fesler as "a former State university football player of memorable merit, and a member of the illustrious 1925 Youngstown South High school football team, and a college coach of notable achievement."

A voice vote then a standing vote, was taken, because considerable opposition developed from house members who felt the matter was not one with which the solons should concern themselves.

Game Warden Cleared

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—The state conservation division reported today that charges against Max Kempker, Perry county game protector suspended Jan. 4, had been dropped following a hearing before the state civil service commission.

Kempker was given a leave of absence until Sept. 1.

The charges included neglect of duty and immorality. Kempker was a former Lucas county game protector.

Trosky Refuses Tiger Offer: To Coach Sox

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 19.—Manager Steve O'Neill of the Detroit Tigers disclosed to newsmen today that an effort had been made to sign Hal Trosky but that he declined the offer in favor of becoming a coach for the Chicago White Sox.

"I figured he was good for a couple of years," O'Neill said. "I know he had an off season last year but he's still a very good ball player. I was surprised when he refused to consider playing any longer and insisted on becoming a coach."

TRUMAN TO MAKE CARIBBEAN CRUISE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—President Truman will leave by air on March 8 for a 15 day vacation trip to the Caribbean area by plane and ship which will include stops for official receptions in Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

An official itinerary announced today by the White House calls for the President to leave here by navy plane at 10 a. m. Saturday March 8.

Mr. Truman will land about five hours later at the submarine base at Key West, Fla., where he will spend the nights of March 8, 9 and 10.

He will stay at the naval commandant's house there.

The chief executive will leave Key West by plane around 5 a. m. Tuesday, March 11, for San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he is due to arrive five hours later.

His party will then go aboard the yacht Williamsburg to await luncheon for the party at 1 p. m. by Governor Pinerio at his official residence, La Fortaleza.

The President will return to the Williamsburg after the luncheon and will go ashore again for a reception at the governor's residence that afternoon.

Mr. Truman then will embark on the Williamsburg to spend March 12 and 13 witnessing fleet maneuvers and at 5 p. m. on March 13 will arrive at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

He will attend an afternoon reception at the residence of Governor Hastie, return to the ship for the night, and on March 14 will have luncheon at the governor's house with key officials of the insular government.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the rest of the cruise will be strictly informal and unofficial. Around March 17 the Williamsburg will put in at the U. S. Naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Ross told newsmen the yacht will cruise around and put in at Key West March 23 where the President will take a plane and return to Washington that night.
